Political uncertainty. Economic uncertainty. Technological uncertainty. Although as leaders you have the ideas, in the face of the uncertainty, business leaders are often reluctant to take bold action. Many freeze and are too overwhelmed to make decisions. Some try to keep a low profile, and just “wait it out”. Others move backward, or retrench, working to protect their business’s future and their careers.

This professional development, specifically designed for business leaders, will unpack the uncertainties and provide strategies to enhance your personal courage quotient.

Keynote Speaker: Dr. Eric Gordon, current CEO of Positive Education Program (PEP) and former CEO/Superintendent of the Cleveland Metropolitan School System (CMSD). During his 12 year tenure at CMSD achieved a 29-point gain in graduation rates, reaching a record high of 80.9 percent, and became a nationally recognized model for urban school reform. Implied in this success, is both bravery and courage.
