

Highly Qualified Teacher (HQT) for Science, K-12 Blended Course

FEBRUARY 26, 2018

APRIL 20, 2018

This course is for all K-12 teachers both with and without previous study in the teaching of subject matter, and is designed to help participants build confidence in their ability to successfully teach Science.

Throughout this course, participants will respond online to both readings and video content via analysis, evaluation, reflection, and discussion forums. They will also be required to implement new learning in their classrooms and create a culminating, collaborative project.

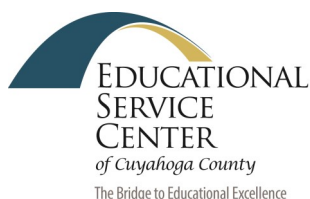

Completion of this HQT professional development series will provide 45 clock hours that contribute to meet the HQT requirements for science.

This professional development series will consist of:

- Two (2) mandatory 3-hour Face-to-Face Sessions
- Refreshing and Reinforcing Science Content (10 hours)
- Diagramming and Explaining Learning Progressions: Vertical Articulation (4 hours)
- Facing the Future of Science Instruction: A Framework for K-12 Science Education—includes Discussion Boards (9 hours)
- Practical Applications and Field Experience (10 hours)
- Culminating, Collaborative Project (6 hours)

Cost: $65.00 workshop fee

Graduate Credit: Three (3) hours of graduate credit, at a reduced rate, will be available to purchase through Ashland University.
