

Integration of Social Emotional Learning and Academic Instruction

Overview

Systematic Social and Emotional Learning within the academic environment includes various components. Three sessions will be offered that focus specifically on the integration of social emotional learning throughout academic instruction. Participants will be introduced to practices that establish an equitable and inclusive classroom environment as well as prepare students for 21st century skills. The CASEL framework will be aligned with educational frameworks to demonstrate how teachers can integrate social emotional skills with academic content and skills.

Intended Audience

Teachers, para professionals, instructional coaches, and/or district leaders

Format

All 3 sessions will be held in person at the ESC of Northeast Ohio.
