

Curate & Customize Online Instructional Resources: “Mixtape” Your Curriculum

October 24, 2017

Presented by: Stephanie DeMichele,
Instructional Technology Consultant, ESC-CC

If your goal is to work towards creating a paperless classroom, if you'd like to discover the available resources for flipping and blending, or if you're simply in search of learning materials that aren't outdated and/or overwhelming, then you'll want to learn about the number of Open Educational Resources (OERs) available to educators of all content areas and grade bands. OERs fuel collaboration, they encourage the improvement of available materials, and they keep educational materials relevant, customizable, and inexpensive. In this workshop, participants will explore best resources for their curriculum and will leave having created their own “mixtape” lesson from a variety of sources.
