Creating an equitable system to support all students is complex. This regional network is here to support you with this work. This year's meeting focus will be on Equity in Special Education: Understanding and Addressing Disproportionality. Get the information you need to examine and address disproportionality findings, examine root causes and proactively plan how to avoid future findings. During this regional network, you can anticipate learning about any recent federal and state updates regarding disproportionality, effective practices for data analysis and monitoring, determine adjustments in practices that might be needed and gather talking points to address district and building data.

Audience: Special Education Directors, Supervisors and their Curriculum Directors
